Mr. James Joosten Jr. is President of Connect-USA LLC, an international consulting firm providing specialized energy analysis and strategic advice to the electric power industry. His 40 years of professional experience include work as a former Senior Energy Analyst with the US Energy Information Administration (EIA), a former Principal Administrator for Nuclear Development at the OECD Nuclear Energy Agency (NEA), a former Nuclear Safety Expert at the International Atomic Energy Agency

(IAEA), and assistant to a former NRC Commissioner. For the first nine years of his career, Mr. Joosten helped commission, operate, and manage two large PWRs for a major US utility in Chicago. He has personally examined over 140 nuclear facilities in 24 countries, provided expert witness services on plant decommissioning, and given strategic analyses for major nuclear mergers and acquisitions. Mr. Joosten has conducted high level official reviews of national energy programs and policies in several countries for the IAEA, NEA, IEA, NRC, and DOE. He holds graduate degrees in National Security Studies, Nuclear Engineering, and Engineering Physics.

Key Issues in Korea's Nuclear Power Industry Today

Guest Speaker: Ilchong Nam, Professor of Economics, Korea Development Institute (KDI) School of Public Policy and Management

When: Thursday, July 10th, 2014; Noon to 1:30 pm

Where: Global America Business Institute Conference Room - 1001 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Suite 435, Washington, DC 20036

Speaker Bio

Dr. Ilchong Nam is a professor of economics at the Korea Development Institute (KDI) School of Public Policy and Management, a graduate school focused on economic policy located in Seoul. He has been conducting policy oriented economic research during the last 25 years and contributed to the development of economic policies for the Korean government on electricity and other energy markets, competition, regulation, and governance of SOEs. He published a book in 2012 on the Korean electricity market, the first book written on the subject by a Korean economist since the restructuring of the market in 2001. His first project on the nuclear power industry culminated in a presentation at an international seminar organized by KDI in 2013, which also included presentations on the nuclear industries of France, Japan, UK, and the US. Prior to teaching at the KDI School of Public Policy and Management, Dr. Nam worked for KDI as a senior research fellow. He has also advised various government agencies in Korea, governments of developing countries, and various international organizations. He received his Ph.D. in economics in 1987 from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Enhancing Global Energy Security: The Role of Nuclear Power

Guest Speaker: Nobuo Tanaka, Former Executive Director of the International Energy Agency (IEA) and Global Associate for Energy Security and Sustainability at the Institute of Energy Economics, Japan (IEEJ)

When: Monday, September 29th, 2014; 2:30 pm to 4:00 pm - light refreshments will be served

Where: Suite 230 Conference Room (2nd Floor) - 1001 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Suite 435, Washington, DC 20036

Speaker Bio

Mr. Nobuo Tanaka has been Global Associate for Energy Security and Sustainability at the Institute of Energy Economics, Japan (IEEJ) since September 2011. As Executive Director of the International Energy Agency (IEA) from 2007 to 2011, Mr. Tanaka oversaw a seminal period in the Agency's work and direction. While IEA Executive Director, Mr. Tanaka was responsible for pioneering the concept of "comprehensive energy security," while also expanding the Agency's focus on climate change, renewable energy and the transition to a low-carbon energy economy (with the 450 ppm scenario of the IEA's World Energy Outlook becoming the benchmark goal for global climate change mitigation). Mr. Tanaka led the IEA's work on fossil fuel subsidy reform, energy efficiency policy recommendations (adopted by the G8), low-carbon energy technology roadmaps, gas and electricity security, energy poverty, and carbon capture and storage. Mr. Tanaka began his career in 1973 in the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry (METI) in Tokyo. He also served as both Deputy Director and Director for Science, Technology and Industry (DSTI) for the Paris-based Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). Mr. Tanaka has a degree in Economics from the University of Tokyo and an MBA from Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

Speaker Bio

Scott Snyder is senior fellow for Korea studies and director of the program on U.S.-Korea policy at the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), where he had served as an adjunct fellow from 2008 to 2011. Mr. Snyder's program examines South Korea's efforts to contribute on the international stage; its potential influence and contributions as a middle power in East Asia; and the peninsular, regional and global implications of North Korean instability. Mr. Snyder is also the co-editor of North Korea in Transition: Politics, Economy, and Society (Rowman and Littlefield, October 2012) and the editor of Global Korea: South Korea's Contributions to International Security (Council on Foreign Relations, October 2012) and The U.S.-South Korea Alliance: Meeting New Security Challenges (Lynne Rienner Publishers, March 2012). Prior to joining CFR, Mr. Snyder was a senior associate in the international relations program of The Asia Foundation, where he founded and directed the Center for U.S.-Korea Policy and served as The Asia Foundation's representative in Korea (2000-2004). He was also a senior associate at Pacific Forum CSIS. Mr. Snyder has worked as an Asia specialist in the research and studies program of the U.S. Institute of Peace and as acting director of Asia Society's contemporary affairs program. Mr. Snyder has authored numerous book chapters on aspects of Korean politics and foreign policy and Asian regionalism, and has authored books such as China's Rise and the Two Koreas: Politics, Economics, Security (2009).

RSVP: Please RSVP to Ms. Christina Sookyung Jung at csjung@thegabi.com. Seating is limited, so please register at your nearest possible convenience.

As with previous roundtables, the discussion is strictly off-the-record.

Thank you for your interest and support.

Sincerely,

Florence Lowe-Lee

Dinner will be served.

Dress code is business casual - collared shirts for men, no jeans allowed.
Valet parking is complimentary.

The US-Korea civil nuclear partnership has evolved greatly over the decades since the US built Korea's first civilian reactors on a turnkey basis in 1978. Korea is now a major player in the global nuclear market, and the US-Korea civil nuclear partnership is presently bearing fruit on many levels: advanced technology R&D, commerce & trade, norm setting in nuclear safety and nonproliferation, etc. The two countries are currently engaged in a ten-year Joint Fuel Cycle Study (JFCS) between US national laboratories, including Argonne National Laboratory (ANL) and Idaho National Laboratory (INL), and Korea Atomic Energy Research Institute (KAERI). Moreover, ANL recently agreed with KAERI to jointly develop the Prototype Generation-IV Sodium-cooled Fast Reactor (PGSFR). The nuclear industries of both the US and Korea are also closely linked--American companies are active participants in Korean-led nuclear construction projects and vice versa. With the importance of nuclear power likely to grow throughout the world in coming years, the US-ROK civil nuclear partnership is poised to positively shape global standards in nuclear safety, security, and nonproliferation, ensuring a brighter and more prosperous future with nuclear energy worldwide.

Admission and dinner are complimentary

Progress and Developments in International Nuclear Safety and Regulation

Featuring:

Dr. Soon-Heung Chang

President, Handong Global University

Chairman of the Advisory Committee on Nuclear Safety and Security, Nuclear Safety and Security Commission (Korea)

Dr. Dale E. Klein

Associate Vice Chancellor for Research, University of Texas

Former Chairman and Commissioner, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission

When: Monday, July 28th, 2014 - 12:00 pm to 1:00 pm

Where: 2226 Rayburn House Office Building (Judiciary Committee Room)

SPEAKER BIOS

Soon-Heung Chang is President of Handong Global University (HGU) in Pohang, Republic of Korea. He was previously President of the Korean Nuclear Society (KNS) and Professor at the Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology (KAIST). He was a professor and lecturer in the Department of Nuclear and Quantum Engineering at KAIST from 1982 until his presidency at HGU, teaching courses in nuclear reactor safety, nuclear power plant design, and nuclear computation. In addition to these teaching duties, he served as Provost at KAIST, Commissioner for the Korea Nuclear Safety Commission, Member of the International Nuclear Safety Advisory Group within the IAEA, and Member of the International Advisors for the Investigation Committee on the Accident at the Fukushima Nuclear Power Stations. He is a frequent plenary speaker, a lead consultant for many large initiatives, and author of numerous journal articles. Dr. Chang is also the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Korea Institute of Nuclear Safety (KINS) and is Chairman of the Advisory Committee on Nuclear Safety and Security within Korea's Nuclear Safety and Security Commission (NSSC). He received his B.A. in Nuclear Engineering from Seoul National University and both his M.S. and Ph.D. in Nuclear Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT).

Dale E. Klein was sworn into the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission in 2006, and was appointed Chairman by President George W. Bush, serving in that role from July 2006 to May 2009. As Chairman, Dr. Klein was the principal executive officer and official spokesman for the NRC, responsible for conducting the administrative, organizational, long-range planning, budgetary, and certain personnel functions of the agency. Additionally, he had the ultimate authority for all NRC functions pertaining to an emergency involving an NRC licensee. The remainder of this term was as Commissioner of the NRC from May 2009 to March 2010. Dr. Klein rejoined The University of Texas System in January of 2011 as Associate Vice Chancellor for Research in the Office of Academic Affairs. At The University of Texas at Austin, he also serves as the Associate Director of The Energy Institute, Associate Vice President for Research, and Professor of Mechanical Engineering (Nuclear Program). Before joining the NRC, Dr. Klein served as the Assistant to the Secretary of Defense for Nuclear, Chemical and Biological Defense Programs. He was appointed to this position by President George W. Bush and confirmed by the Senate in 2001. Dr. Klein holds a doctorate in nuclear engineering from the University of Missouri-Columbia.
